

Not only is the ubiquitous atmosphere carbon dioxide a greenhouse gas. Also other volatile organic substances with different global warming potential are considered in our GHG accounting system.