

My training path at Olympus

Insight day

You will get to know Olympus and other apprentices even before the actual apprenticeship program starts.

A glimpse into various specialist areas

Throughout the course of your apprenticeship, you will work in several company areas during which you will gain valuable insights into the different departments at Olympus.

Reflect on progress

You will receive valuable feedback on your development from your supervisor at the end of your probationary period.

Development meeting

After already having passed through various departments, you can discuss your wishes for the rest of the apprenticeship in a development meeting with your supervisor and then plan for the next assignments.

Time abroad

By spending a semester abroad or working in a European subsidiary, you will travel with Olympus to other European countries.

Continued employment

Those wishing to remain working with us after completing their education have a good chance of being taken on.

Introductory weeks

Over two exciting introductory weeks, you will meet your apprenticeship coordinators over a joint breakfast, undertake your first training sessions and work as part of a team on a small project task.

Apprentice trip

During a four-day trip that you will undertake with all other Olympus apprentices, you will complete various training sessions and get to know each other even better.

Training sessions

You will improve your personal skills for your professional future in workshops on topics such as time management and communication.

Future orientation seminar

Together with other apprentices you will analyze your own competencies, reflect on what you enjoy and where you can head towards after completing your apprenticeship.

Final examination/ Bachelor's thesis

You will demonstrate your knowledge and skills in your final examination or thesis.
