Complications in Colorectal Surgery

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAMME

1st – 5th December 2013, St. Gallen, Switzerland

Monday, 2nd December 2013
- My worst complications
  Heald Richard, UK
- Pelvic exenteration
  Büchler Markus, Germany
- Cannot reach – dealing with bowel length
  Bemelman Willem, NL
- Does high BMI mean low expectations?
  Madoff Robert D., USA
- Complications in proctology and longterm outcomes
  Herold Alexander, Germany
- Morbidity and quality of life following rectal prolapse surgery
  Lindsey Ian, UK
- Are cancer recurrences related to postoperative complications
  Cohen Zane, Canada
- Recurrent colorectal cancer
  Tekkis Paris P., USA
- ROUND TABLE
  Thinking out of the box

Tuesday, 3rd December 2013
- LIVE SURGERY
- Hazards of bowel perfusion
  Cunningham Chris, UK
- Anastomotic leaks: identifying those at highest risk
  Tiret Emmanuel, France
- How to manage a leaking anastomosis
  Mortensen Neil, UK
- The surgeon as the key to major improvements in colorectal cancer surgery
  Quirke Phil, UK
- Avoiding troubles in laparoscopic colon and rectum risk
  Delaney Conor P., USA
- Perforated colorectal cancer
  Hohenberger Werner, Germany
- Bowel obstruction: early and late occurrence
  Winter Desmond, Ireland

Wednesday, 4th December 2013
- Enterocutaneous fistula: how to avoid and how to treat
  Anderson Iain, UK

Thursday, 5th December 2013
- Open abdomen and abdominal compartment syndrome
  Guy Richard, UK
- Why using biological meshes in colorectal surgery?
  Windsor Alastair, UK
- Surgical staplers and energy devices: friends or foes
  Hahnloser Dieter, Switzerland
- The true impact of radiotherapy: benefits and long-term morbidity
  Påhlman Lars, Sweden
- Current status of rectal cancer treatment in China
  Gu Jin, China
- Laparoscopic colorectal surgery in India - a recent update
  Moirangthem Gulamjat Singh, India
- Transanal hybrid colonic resection
  Fuchs Karl-Hermann, Germany
- Clinical data on the use of Thunderbeat tissue management system and technique
  Zerz Andreas, Switzerland
- Low anterior resection – how do patients feel?
  Laurberg Søren, Denmark
- To divert or not: evidence and decision-making around ostomies
  Baxter Nancy, Canada
- Anorectal functional sequellae after rectal cancer surgery: avoidable?
  D’Hoore André, Belgium
- Prevention and management of splenic and left ureteral injuries
  Finan Paul, UK
- The way to a perfect operation
  Mellgren Anders, USA
- Wound infections – a banality with consequences
  Senagore Anthony J., USA
- Functional disorders after rectal cancer treatment
  Van de Velde Cornelis, NL
- Prevention and management of stoma complications
  O’Connell P. Ronan, Ireland
- Pitfalls of abdominoperineal resection
  Sagar Peter, UK
- Perineal complications following APR
  Holm Torbjörn, Sweden
- Intractable bleeding – the nasty pelvis
  Abcarian Herand, USA

Information & Registration: www.colorectalsurgery.eu
Workshops

- Anorectal and Pelvic Floor Ultrasound
  1st December 2013
- Transanal Endoscopic Microsurgery (TEM)
  2nd December 2013
- Transanal Endoscopic Operations (TEO™)
  3rd December 2013
- Laparoscopic Colorectal Surgery
  4th and 5th December 2013
- Proctology (hemorrhoids and more)
  5th December 2013

EBSQ European Board of Surgery Qualification

Coloproctology Examination:
1st December 2013
www.uemssurg.org